While the online space and digital technologies provide effective tools for business, these also present complexities and challenges. Security breaches are often the result of human error, and, the boundaries between professional and personal can be blurred and misunderstood.

Generation Online provides presentations and workshops designed for organisations, focussing on professional and personal online safety. Sessions include:

- Key online issues (scams, phishing; online conflict; privacy and sharing; etc) and what we can do to help mitigate or manage these;
- The Harmful Digital Communications Act, and the Privacy Act and what is important to know;
- Digital tools that help to keep us safe online;
- Digital 'house keeping' and effective and safe systems;
- Resources

Presentations | Whānau Workshops

Whānau and carers can often feel overwhelmed and out of touch with what's happening online for their children. Generation Online is committed to supporting these groups, many of whom are your employees. Their role is the most significant factor in helping young people develop the skills, knowledge, attitudes and values needed to thrive online.

Right now, these groups are doing an awesome job working for your organisation. As a broader wellbeing and PLD initiative, Generation Online can provide an opportunity for them to learn more about their integral role as they raise our next generation in a digital world.

Generation Online shares key messages for whānau and carers covering:

- Online safety and approaches families can take to create safe online environments;
- Wellbeing, and the opportunities/impact of what young people do online;
- Resources available, legislation, and agencies that can help.

Anjela Webster (M.Ed hons) is an experienced Education Advisor and founder of Generation Online. She consults to, and works alongside organisations, schools and Kura, ECE, Whānau, and young people.

"I just wanted to say a huge thanks for your impressive presentation this afternoon. It was extremely well received and I had a number of staff approach me after you'd gone with ideas about our collective responsibility. You definitely challenged people's thinking in a great way - today was brilliant motivation for us all."

"It was an amazing presentation - very informative and direct. I know that those who attended got a lot out of it."

"Anjela has recently led professional learning with our staff. She is an engaging speaker with a wealth of experience and knowledge in the area of social media, and online safety."
